I have a dream that people can buy gas for one dollar per gallon. It would really help people who use gas a lot and airplane tickets would be cheaper. People would be able to run their cars on less money so there wouldn't be too many poor people. And there wouldn't be arguments at the gas station. Not just the western gas stations like Phillips 66 or Texaco. The eastern ones too like Citgo. And all the gas stations around the world. The Arabian ones too like Dinosaur. All the gas stations; Conoco, 7/11, all of them. And all the convenience stores with gas pumps in front. Every gas station would benefit from that dream.
